

PRINCIPLES AND GOALS FOR SMALL GROUPS DISCUSSIONS

Small Group Discussion Questions

Part I

1. How would you describe your level of satisfaction with the way you have been able to lead small groups in the past?
2. How successful are you at speaking only 10-20% of the time in your small groups?
3. If that is not your strong point, what are some practical ideas to help you (and others like you) speak less?
4. According to the lecture, a good teacher is not measured by how much the teacher knows but by how much the students learn. How do you think your students would rate you as a teacher?
5. Many facilitators feel that if they are asked a question they must give an answer, otherwise they will look bad in front of their students and the course will lose respect. How can you keep from falling into that trap?
6. It is not always easy to do a good job of summarizing students' answers. What can you do to improve your skills in that area?
7. How can you tell if you need to rephrase a question?
8. How can you tell how many times you need to rephrase a question?
9. Your job is to keep people talking. If someone gives a poor or wrong answer to a question, how can you deal with it in such a way that he won't feel bad or discouraged about being a part of the discussion?
10. How can controversy be a positive influence on your discussion?
11. What will happen in your group if you don't help a quiet person participate?
12. What will happen in your group if you don't restrain a talkative person?
13. How will you know whether or not a tangent is inappropriate?
14. One of the hardest things to do in a small group is keep it focused. Why is that so important?
15. How can you help everyone stay focused?
16. How can you tell the difference between a good silence and a bad silence?
17. A very common mistake is to not allow enough time for good silence. How can you tell if you've waited long enough?
