LEARN THE DANGERS OF FALSE FINANCIAL CONCEPTS

To allow error to remain in your mind is like allowing poison to remain in your body. God instructs us to be actively involved in "casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ" (II Corinthians 10:5).

1. If you think, act, and look successful, will you become successful?

No. This concept causes a person to believe that he, rather than God, is the source of power to get wealth. God warns us not to say in our heart "...my power and the might of mine hand hath gotten me this wealth. But thou shalt remember the Lord thy God: for it is he that giveth thee power to get wealth..." (Deuteronomy 8:17-18).

2. Is it true that there is no excuse for a person's being poor?

No. This statement sounds true, but it is Scripturally false. "The rich and poor meet together: the Lord is the maker of them all" (Proverbs 22:2). God has a number of methods and purposes for causing various types and lengths of poverty. For this reason, He warns us not to mock the poor or to take advantage of them; because in so doing, we reproach their Maker, and we will receive God's punishment

3. Can every man determine his own financial destiny?

No. This idea causes a man to be self-centered rather than God-centered. It gives him the idea that whatever destiny he chooses will be right. However, money gained contrary to God's principles will bring sorrow with it. (See Proverbs 10:22; Psalm 16:4.)

4. Can you achieve whatever your mind can conceive and believe?

No. This concept is based on the false idea that a man can achieve financial independence and true happiness apart from God. It puts confidence in human ability rather than giving proper recognition to God's enablement. God has given special power to man, but it must be used in accordance with Scriptural principles. (See Romans 8:7.)

5. Should you make it your goal to become financially independent so that you will not have to look to other people for help?

No. This goal encourages just the opposite of God's warning not to trust in uncertain riches. (See I Timothy 6:7, 17.) Although it is not wrong to prepare for the future, God does not want us to develop a spirit of independence from Him or from others. The very fellowship among believers involves a sharing during times of need. "...Now at this time your abundance may be a supply for their want, that their abundance also may be a supply for your want..." (II Corinthians 8:14).

6. Do the material things that you provide for your family make up for any sacrifices that a job requires?

No. If a man's wife or children feel that his job is more important to him than they are, they will despise him and look at the things he provides as attempts to buy their affections.

The real needs of a family are not material things but spiritual leadership. No amount of money can restore time and relationships which are lost because of wrong priorities. (See Luke 12:15; Malachi 4:6.)

7. Can a person borrow his way to financial success?

No. A person may increase his assets by borrowing during a time of rising inflation. However, financial success is not measured by assets, but by freedom from greed, worry, and bondage.

Borrowing is based on the false assumption that things will be better tomorrow than they are today. This assumption disregards the warning of James 4:13-14. This concept also overlooks the fact that the borrower becomes the servant of the lender. (See Proverbs 22:7.)

8. Is being the president of your own business the ultimate financial goal?

No. This concept runs counter to the very spirit of Christ's teaching on both serving and being successful in business. The goal is not to become the "boss" but to become the servant of all. (See Matthew 23:11-12.) When the focus is on serving, it may well lead to an executive position or ownership of a company. Such leadership is then the by-product of helping others become successful. It is not a goal to be sought after.

9. Do you have the right to decide how you will spend the money that you earn?

No. This concept is totally opposite of God's teaching. The money that we have does not belong to us. We are only stewards of that which God has entrusted to us. We demonstrate our stewardship each week by tithes and offerings. (See Malachi 3:10-11.)

10. In order to be successful, must you overcome every obstacle that is between you and your financial goals?

No. God wants us to recognize that some obstacles are given by Him as reproofs. He designs these obstacles so that we will turn from our ways and follow His direction. (See Proverbs 1:23; 13:8.)

11. Can you build a successful business with a good advertising program?

No. A successful business must be built on word-of-mouth promotion by satisfied customers. The better and more vital the product, the less advertising is needed. The Scriptural counsel is that we should not praise ourselves, but that we should let others praise us instead. (See Proverbs 27:2.)

12. Can you measure your success by the amount of money that you earn?

No. This is a false picture of success and of life. It is based on the assumption that one's emotional needs, such as peace, security, happiness, acceptance, and fulfillment, will be met through money. This assumption is untrue, because these needs are only satisfied through a right relationship with God. If we expect to gain from money the things that only God can give, then we make money our god. (See I Timothy 6:10.)

13. Are those who reach the top of the "success ladder" usually self-made people?

No. This prideful idea totally overlooks the fact that it is God who "...putteth down one, and setteth up another" (Psalm 75:7). It also discounts all the investments which parents and others have made in our lives. Those who believe that they are fully responsible for their own success will soon experience the reaction of the ones who helped them reach it.

Pride is believing that we achieved what, in reality, God and others have done for us and through us.

14. Must you be willing to compromise if you want to succeed in the business world?

No. Just the opposite is true. If we compromise basic Scriptural convictions for financial gain, our "success" will be short-lived and there will be trouble with the money we gain.

Daniel is one of God's choice examples of how to succeed in a job by not compromising, whatever the cost. Daniel's dedication to his job and to God's moral standards brought him even higher promotions and recognition, in spite of every pressure and plot to get him to compromise. (See Daniel 1:8.)

15. In order to be promoted in a big company, is whom you know more important than what you know?

No. The quality of your work will bring you to the attention of the right people. "Seest thou a man diligent in his business? he shall stand before kings; he shall not stand before mean men" (Proverbs 22:29).

Trying to gain favor or influence with the rich is condemned by God. (See Proverbs 23:1-8.)

Christ was rich, yet for our sakes He became poor that we through His poverty might be rich. (See II Corinthians 8:9.)

16. Is it true that there is no real virtue in being poor?

No. However, this answer is based on the right definition of virtue and the right understanding of poverty.

Virtue is the positive, moral influence which we have on the lives of others.

Poverty comes in at least four different forms. There is real virtue in two of these forms and there can be virtue in the other two, depending on our response to it.

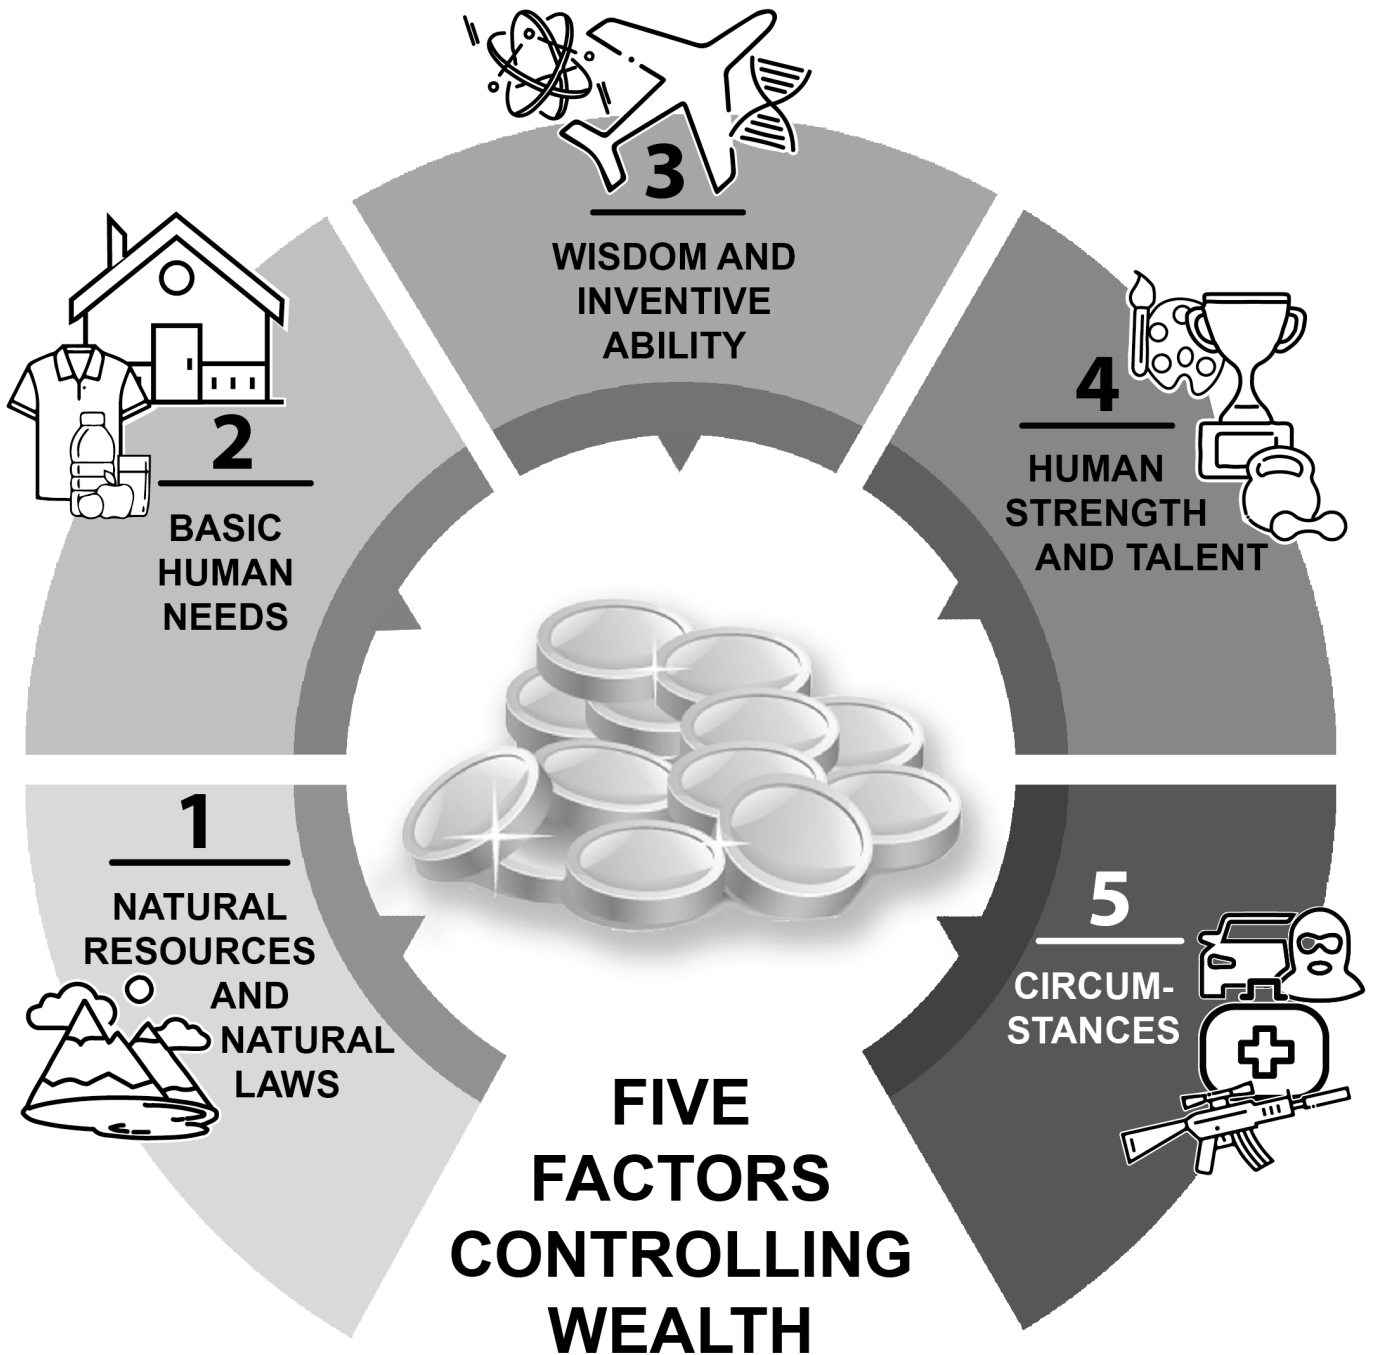

TYPE OF POVERTY	CAUSE	VIRTUE
1. Chastening poverty	Violating God's principles (Samson)	Influences others to obey God
2. Testing poverty	Learning God's character (Job)	Helps others not to trust in riches
3. Redemptive poverty	Giving wealth for others (Christ)	Prompts others to praise God
4. Attitude poverty	Realizing our need for God (Moses)	Encourages others to be humble

An example of God's control of circumstances is seen in II Kings 6 and 7. Because of God's judgment on Samaria, there was a famine in the land. At the same time, the Syrians were besieging Samaria so that food supplies could not get into the city. As a result, a donkey's head had a value of eighty pieces of silver. In one day's time God delivered the people of Samaria. Food was suddenly in abundance, and a donkey's head became worthless.

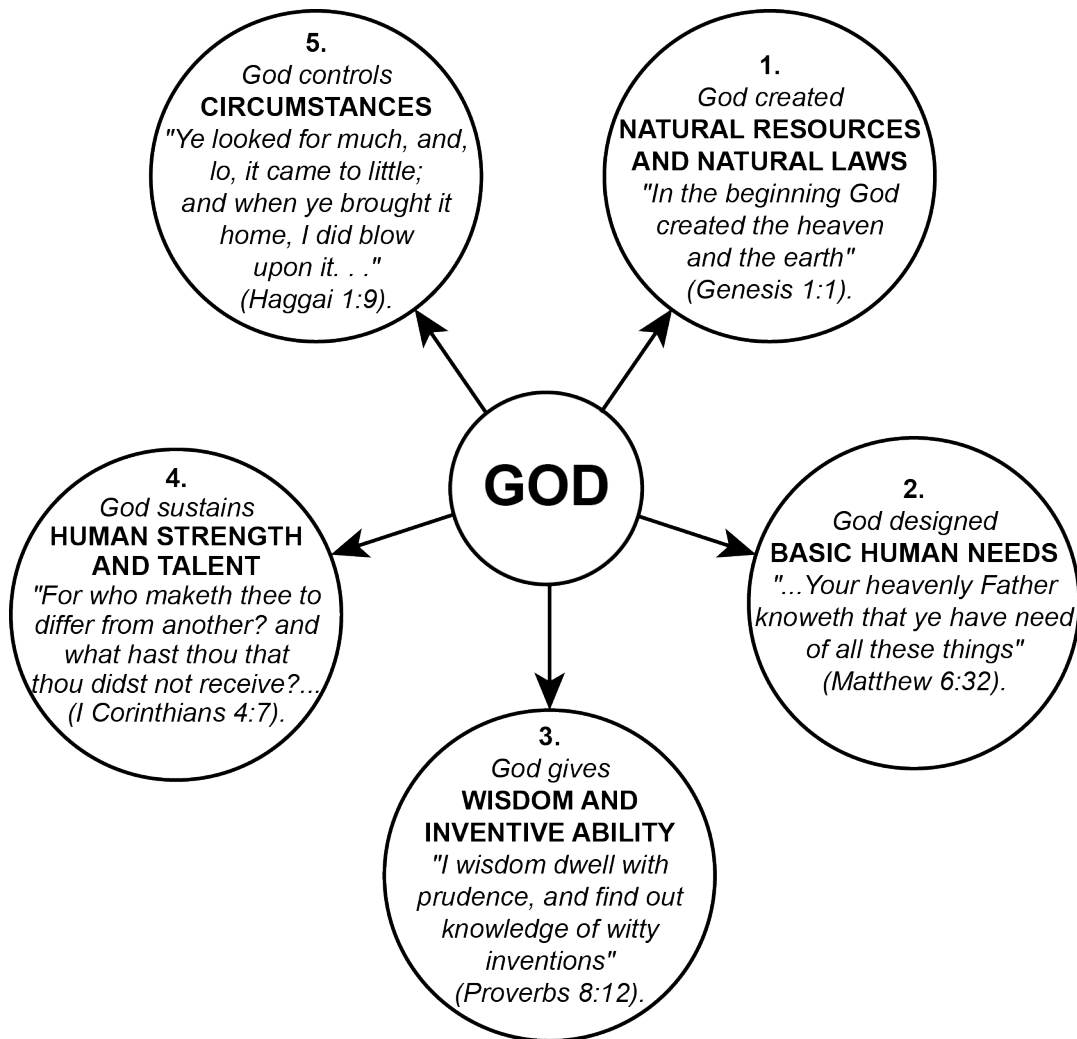

WHY WE MUST TRACE WEALTH TO ITS TRUE SOURCE

- All wealth is ultimately in God's hands, since He controls the basic factors which affect it. These factors are as follows:

- If a man believes that wealth comes from natural resources, human ability, or a successful company, he will attach loyalties and devotion to them rather than to God. His trust will be misplaced, and his priorities will be out of balance. In the end he will be disillusioned.

Security: THE REWARD OF TRACING ALL WEALTH TO GOD

- By tracing all wealth to God, we free ourselves to find true security and true riches in our relationship with Him, for He can never be destroyed or taken away.

"...He that is greatest among you shall be your servant. And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted."

Matthew 23:11-12
